Chair's Message:

As we start the 2024-25 academic year, I'm excited to share with you some highlights from the previous year. The CS department is in the midst of an impactful faculty growth phase -- we've hired 11 new Assistant Professors in the past two years and are targeting several more hires this year! These faculty hires bring new research and educational opportunities in some of the most important areas of our field, including generative AI, robotics, systems for scalable machine learning, system security, and human-computer interaction. Our students and existing faculty continue to demonstrate passion and excellence across a range of activities -- read on for more!
